From The CEO's Desk

This is my last editorial before I retire, next year from the organisation. It has been an absolutely wonderful journey of 11 years - a journey which was a huge learning experience. Every day I was learning something new. Having transitioned from Higher Education into the Social Sector, there had to be a significant shift in the mental gears. Heading a college with 7000 students belonging to various professional courses, 200 teaching staff and 300 non-teaching staff one had to have a set of skills, which required great administrative and personnel acumen. However, when I joined this organisation, I saw a beautiful legacy left by Mrs. Vipula Kadri who founded the organisation with great love, care and empathy. Having faced many turbulent times and challenging situations in the college, heading this legacy was a cake walk. I found every one so committed, involved and sincere in their work. Passion was the key word which drove all.

I am indeed fortunate to enter such a rewarding life after spending 36 years in National College. Seeing the struggles and trials of the less fortunate in the society, a certain kind of empathy and sensitivity developed which propelled me to initiate new ideas and initiatives to bring more meaning in the lives we touched. In this I had the support of all my team mates and the guidance of the trustees. This helped tremendously because a shared opinion is always more inclusive and healthy than a person centric dominance.

Our interventions and reach increased significantly. From a budget of Rs 2 cr. in 2008 to 20 cr. in 2018 the organisation saw a spurt of growth in all directions. Our current interventions and its impact have been illustrated in the subsequent pages of this report.

At the end of my journey I would like to thank many people who have enriched my life through their love and support. To begin with I would like to thank, Mr. IM

Kadri who is an extraordinary human being and has inspired me at every level. Rahul and Shimul, Mana and Suniel, Isha and Yogi, a family which is so genuine and giving and hence endeared themselves to me in a big way. Rekha has been a true friend giving sound advice and lending her legal support whenever needed. Mickey, Ayaz, Juzer, Indu and Sanjay arranged readily for the much needed funds whenever required.

All my colleagues have stood by me like a rock and have given their unconditional support. We have weathered a number of storms but the sail was held firm thanks to all of them. I would like to extend my warm appreciation to them for being my ideal co-passengers all through my journey.

Last but not the least I would like to thank God for bringing me to this amazing organisation where I feel the invisible presence of Mrs. Kadri as she guides me every day. Her blessing has given me immense strength and resilience.

As I leave the organisation, I carry very fond memories which I will cherish for the rest of my life.

Shine on you little star!

In the world biggest slums, Dharavi, lives a 5-year-old boy who was born in a marginalised family with three siblings. His name is Hamza.

While his father, works as an assistant in a tailor shop, mother looks after the home and family. Hamza's parents gradually realised that their third born child was not achieving the developmental milestone in a normal pattern. At the right time, he was admitted to our Special Care Centre School. Initially, he would often cry for the entire day in school and speak in soft and unclear speech.

But when we talk about the present scenario, Hamza has completely transformed into a confident and cheerful boy. After four years of individualized program, he was a class topper this year. His individual working skills has improved and aspires to become a class monitor every week. Although uneducated, Hamza's parents can't be less proud of him and are a constant pillar of support for him.

Last year, when English was introduced as a second language, he showed great interest and now is able to read simple sentences from the book. Taking his progress in account, he was enrolled to Pratham – Open Basic Education i.e equivalent to 3rd standard curriculum. Our long-term goal is to get Hamza, a moderately intellectually disabled boy to appear for tenth standard either through National Institute of Open School (NIOS) or Secondary School Certificate (SSC). We encourage Hamza to take part in all extra- curricular activities.

We are the happiest when it comes to Hamza's progress and all we hope for him is that, he shines bright like a star!

When a teacher's personality blooms

Saba Zaveri walked into the Balwadi teacher training for the first time two years ago in 2016 and sat down in a corner with her head down, not interacting with anybody, or responding to the trainer. She was painfully shy but slowly the trainer realized how sharp-witted and skillful she was as a teacher. Her ability for critical thinking and empathy made her stand out from the crowd. The trainers just wished she would express herself more.

As the year progressed, and she felt more comfortable with the trainers, Saba became more and more confident, and tried to take a lot of initiative to express her thoughts. She showed tremendous growth as an early childhood educator and began to shine in making creative teaching materials.

With the help of the trainers, she learnt to handle her classroom with independence and confidence. She started building lifelong skills of decision making and handling various situations that can arise in class. The cherry on the cake was her performing a song for all her peers on the day they completed a year of training. It was hard to believe this was the same woman who hid in a corner on her first day and took a long time to open up, but now that she has, she is one of the best teachers in STCI now, showing consistent performance in her teaching.

She is deeply empathetic and with her newfound self-confidence, she has achieved a holistic change in her personality which makes her a much admired teacher by her students and her peers. At STCI, we not only train the teachers in academic skills, but also foster an encouraging environment for their personality to develop. The teacher trainings are a transformative process and as a result, our teachers become empowered change makers and Saba's story is just one of these transformations that happen with every single training that teachers go through at STCI.

PATANG PROGRAM

Study Centers

The Patang classrooms are based on the principles and recommendations of NCF 2005. In Patang classroom each child is facilitated to construct knowledge along with their peers and the teacher. There is plenty of scope for children to participate in class and learning is build on personal experiences that are valued and used as an educational resource. Children learn by questioning and making meaning. In Patang classrooms learning is a process of collaboration and actively interpreting one's own environment. Teachers provide children opportunities for expression and experimentation in order to achieve higher order thinking skills including meaningful reading, independent writing, logical reasoning and problem solving. Patang teachers are developed to be autonomous professional and not dictated the activities that they must be conducting in their class. They go beyond the textbooks to enrich the classroom experiences of the child with other resources and develop print rich classrooms. A unique self-paced learning is provided to academically lagging children from grades II to VIIth, thereby ensuring they continue with education and complete Primary and Middle School Education. Thereby they will be mainstreamed in their grade specific level

From a shy boy to a star student - Rohit's journey

Imagine you were dropped into an unknown room where no one spoke your language and everyone expected you to climb a ladder, only you couldn't possibly know what they wanted you to do. So you skulk around in a corner and eventually leave the room that doesn't seem to offer anything to you while others keep climbing the ladder and being lauded. This is exactly how little Rohit Jadhav's story starts, but that's not how it ends. Rohit was born in Lonavla to parents who had to work as daily wage labourers to make ends meet and support him and his younger siblings. They moved to Punavale and enrolled Rohit in a Marathi medium school while his mother tongue was Kaatkari. Rohit hated school and found ways to miss school frequently.

Rohit's education had taken a turn for the worst with teachers fearing he would drop out altogether soon. This is when he got a helping hand from Save the Children India's Patang center in his school. Patang's remedial classes, help students find the joy in learning and catch up with their peers. His Patang teacher, Sarika, never gave up on him. Every day, despite the language gap, she would try to talk to him and engage him in various activities of the class. She even picked him up from his regular classroom to encourage him to attend the remedial Patang class. With games, story books, and puzzles, she managed to engage him little by little, until one day, without even realising it, Rohit was participating in class like any other child with a hunger to learn new things. Rohit can rattle off the entire Marathi alphabet at the drop of a hat now and enjoys solving math puzzles. He has made friends among his peers for the first time in his life and embarks on every day in the Patang center as an adventure.

Rohit's mother and class teacher are both proud and amused by Rohit's enthusiasm. The boy who was on the path to dropout of school is the most regular student now. The Headmaster says Rohit puts a smile on everybody's face with his eagerness. Sarika, the Patang teacher, considers him her biggest success story, "To see him come out of his shell and become my star student is the validation of all the work my profession is doing. There's something special about a child striving to reach his full potential. I hope I can help many more Rohit's to realise that learning can be a joyful experience." We hope so too Sarika, keep up the good work!

Challenge for change

Rural prevention

India has one of the highest number of child brides in the world. Around, 27% of girl in India are married before the age of 18. The number of these cases are higher in rural areas. Bringing a change in the scenario, Seetabai is one of those 25 zealous leaders who have promised to shoulder responsibility for safety of their village. Seetabai reported a case of girl who was just 15 years old and was to be married off this November. The team after reporting the case, managed to prevent the child marriage and continue her schooling. Child marriage being one of the major concern and its role in increasing vulnerability to violence including trafficking, we salute the spirit of Seetabai and many like her who constantly strive to make villages and communities safe for women and children. Poor educational opportunities for girls, especially in rural areas, also increase girls' vulnerability to child marriage.

A ray of hope for Resina !

Livelihood Interventions with survivors of trafficking

There are thousands of people who move from their native place to bigger cities in search of job and better life. While a lot of them achieve what they came for, many of them get stuck in the evil choices. Similarly Resina moved from Calcutta to Mumbai in 2016, so that she can earn more money as a servant. Her desire to provide a better lifestyle for her daughter and mother turned into a disaster.

She was lured with an attractive salary and was forced to work in a bar. When the bar was raided by police, she was sent to a shelter home. For Resina, life became miserable and the future looked dark. There was a ray of hope for her when she enrolled for Save the Children India's vocational training and rehabilitative program. With the help of skill training, she eventually became a home care nurse, dispensing medicine and caring for the less mobile patients. She is satisfied with her job and it provides her with a steady income of 12,000 rupees per month.

Most recently, Resina left the shelter home and rented a place for herself. With her newfound job, she can now provide her daughter a better education. While Resina cannot change her past, she is fighting hard for herself and her daughter's future. We are proud to be a part her story of change!

No looking back for Jigna

Jigna is a 28 years old woman from Uttar Pradesh living in Asalfa since past 10 years. She stays in a small house with 5 family members. Her husband is the only earning person with 4 dependents. During the mobilization, the trainer met her and told her about the training programmes offered by Save The Children India. Jigna was interested in taking up the course but her mother-in-law was apprehensive about sending her for the course. The trainer and mobilizers didn't give up and after multiple visits to the family's house and talking to different members of the family, finally Jigna and her mother in law came to the center to have a look. After the orientation by the trainer, the mother in law got a clear picture of the course offered and all her doubts were answered. Immediately she enrolled her daughter in law in the 4 months training in Beauty and Hair Treatment course. After enrolling in the course and learning a skill, Jigna now had the much needed confidence to help and support her family and live a life of dignity. After attending the Life skills session she opened up and expressed her aspiration of becoming an independent entrepreneur. Until now Jigna has observed a lot of changes in herself. Earlier she used to remain at home and never go out anywhere. But now she has learnt everything - how to travel alone, how to talk to people and she feels confident. ### A gift of sound to Divya!

Imagine a life where a parent discover his 2-year-old lovely daughter is unable to respond to any kind of sound. Divya's parents were shattered when they came to know about her hearing impairment.

In 2017, she stepped in Dhvani Centre along with her parents and high hopes to have a life-changing experience. After, the intervention and diagnosis, she successfully went through the cochlear implant surgery at the Hinduja Hospital. Post-surgery, her switch-on procedure was done on 1st March 2017 at the Dhvani center. Here, she was fitted with the external component of her cochlear implant which is called speech processor. With this big step taken, Divya now has started with her post implant audiological, therapy and education sessions at Dhvani. It was an emotional moment for her family when she gradually started to respond to her parents' voices and different environmental sounds. After this long journey of implant and therapy, now there is no looking back for her. She has started understanding simple questions and commands. She can now speak many meaningful words and tries to express herself verbally all the time. Studying at age appropriate level, she goes to regular Hindi Medium School. Her parents have been her pillar of strength all this while. Dhvani is delighted to be a part of Divya's journey of change!

An empowering journey of Soniya

Soniya, 24, escaped from her marital home in Bihar to her maternal home in Khizrabad with her 2 small children after being subjected to constant, brutal mental and physical violence by her husband and in-laws

In Khizrabad, one of our social worker's met her and was shocked to see her severely bruised, traumatised and depressed. She was brought to our centre where she was counselled and given abundant emotional support. Our team visited her parents and convinced them not to pressurise her to return to her marital home. The parents had the typical fear of society diktats but our team made them realise that the life of their daughter and grandchildren was far more important and valuable than hollow social norms. They assured the parents Savita and her kids would not be a liability to them but would soon turn into an asset who would take care even of them. The parents agreed though very reluctantly.

Soniya enrolled for the tailoring programme and was soon earning around Rs 7000/ a month. She had now tasted freedom and was so empowered she took the decision of enrolling for our other course of beauty and wellness so that not only could she double her income but could also work on her own appearance in order to be more presentable.

Today Soniya has transitioned from a battered helpless woman, dishevelled and unkempt, to a confident and well turned out woman who has become a living advocate of unshackling yourself against any type of domestic violence and abuse and living life on your own terms.
